SPECULATION SLOW AND PRICES STEADY TO FIRM.

WHEAT WEAK MOST OF THE DAY BUT CORN STRONG.

Speculation Extremely Dull and the General Situation Nearly Featureless All Day.

Office Republic, Menday, June 4, 1992. Throughout the greater part of the day the speculative grain markets were exfromely guist, though toward the closthere was a slight change for the better in this respect. The tone was weak for wheat and the tendence of prices was toward a lower level, but in the case of corn the contrary prevailed, there being witnessed an undertable undertable of strength, and some small gains were recorried. The eps and downs of values during most of the day were small and nurrow, while developments of an interesting nature were few and far between and of no startling significance to either butt or cur. In fact, taking the rituation all the war through, there was very little to be found that was encouraging, it being in multy respects a counterpart of that of test week, that is to ear, dull, slow and unweek, that is to say, didl, slow and the close ininteresting. Wheat toward the close inproved slightly, but the final flaures were

The second week of the new month was ushered in this morning on 'change in a manner for from encouraging to those triendly to wheat, and at no time during the early hours did this market held out any hopes that could be refted upon for a betterment of could be. Speculative deal-ings were of a restricted kind, and nimest entirely of a pr fessional character, the public showing as used, but little interest. Then again the information received was nearly all of a hearish tener. There were no cables at hand when the market opened, owing to the observance of the Whitsun-tile holidays and traders had to depend entirely. entirely upon the westher and crop condi-tions and the statistical position of this

Rules were reported from different sec tions where they had been must needed and conditions were said to favor more. There were no further complaints of fresh damage to the winter wheat crop, but a Kansas statistician reported that thus State would State Would be supported in the State Would states $5,000,000 pa. Then came reperts of the barvesting of a flue crop in Islam. The world's shipments were about up to the expectations of the tradi, being 1,000,000 pa. and the amount allows decreased 1,000,000 pa. a year upon the states of the sta There was nothing to atimulate specula-

Provisions.

Provisions opened strong, without anything in the public market information to suggest a reason for its strength. Shorts seemed to have some reason for cevering, and the chief supporters of the market who were stient for a few days back opened up again and made a great clamor for pork lard and ribs. At the close pork showed 224sc improvement, lard, ley, ribs, 7-9g/be. The local run of hogs was 40,000, and 5,000 were estimated for to-morrow. The larger gate of the day's run at the chief Western pucking points was 6,000, as against 64,000 the year before.

VICTIM MADE AN ARREST.

William Chapman, a chef, whose home is in Colorado Springs, Colo, was arrested Sunday evening by Louis Schneperkoetter of No. 4els North Twenty-fifth street, who alleges that Chapman stole a diamond pin from him while he was boarding a Burlington train at Spanish Lake for St. Louis. Schneperkoetter felt some one pulling at his shirt bosom and looking down saw a man's hand. He caught the hand and told the man he was under arrest. With the use of his revolver he compelled the man to get aboard the train and brought him here. From the dipot Schneperkoetter marched his prisoner to the Stath District Police Station, where he was turned over to the police.

Chapman was removed to the Four Courts yesterday. Chief Desmond, who put him through the "sweat box," asserts he is an old offender. Assistant Prosecuting Atterney Johnson, to whom application was made for a warrant, referred the matter to the county authorities, as the alleged offense was committed there.

Later a warrant was issued at Clayton and Chapman was removed to the St. Louis County Jail.

REPULLE SPECIAL.

Washimaton, June 4.—The friends of Representative Burtlett of Georgia were congratulating tim this merning on being the author of the first anti-trust legislation of this congress. When the Alaskan bill was in the House, Judge Bartlett offered an amendment prohibiting the entry of the "octopus" into Alaska and providing penalties. This amendment was adopted by the House and line been accepted because the Senate conferees see that it will stand as the first anti-trust legislation of the Congress.
